Meet Kai

Kai blew four candles out on his birthday cake in the cafeteria of UCSF Benioff Children's Hospital Oakland. Everyone in the cafeteria joined in singing "Happy Birthday." It was the first day of living in the hospital, with 40 more to follow. The night before his fourth birthday, Kai's family had learned that their little boy had Burkitt's Lymphoma, a rare type of fast-growing, non-Hodgkin lymphoma. His parents were devastated, but never gave up hope. Numerous surgeries, chemotherapy treatments, and tests later, Kai's parents were beyond happy to learn that Kai was in remission thanks to the amazing team at UCSF Benioff Children's Hospital Oakland.

Kai's mother Renee says, "You would think that after all the pokes and prods Kai would not like the hospital, but in fact he loves going back for his regular check-ups so that he can visit with all the wonderful people who took care of him. We enjoy going too, because the team at Children's took care of all of us during the most difficult time of our lives."

Bay Bash 2015

Join Bay Area young professionals and philanthropists for a night of dancing, cocktails and hors d'oeuvres at Children's Creativity Museum in San Francisco on Saturday, October 24 from 7 PM to 12 PM. This inaugural event will be the first of many celebrations recognizing the miracles performed daily at UCSF Benioff Children's Hospital Oakland, a Children's Miracle Network hospital.
